Profile

Vilma Sippola is an enthusiastic performer, who doesn't want to take art or herself too seriously, even though its the only thing she is serious about. She loves being a part of stories, singing and making sounds, dancing, fooling around, writing and performing. Working in front of the camera excites her a lot. Her artistic process happens through connection with others, trying things out and writing. At the moment she is inspired by pop-culture, playing, puppeting herself and boybands. She is not interested in working alone.
